

Planetka Privacy Policy

Last updated: 2026-03-26

This Privacy Policy explains what information Planetka collects in connection with Planetka accounts and Planetka-hosted services used by the Blender add-on.

1. Information Collected

Planetka may collect:

- your email address
- account identifiers and login/session state
- service usage metrics
- performance metrics
- account-related metrics
- technical request metadata needed for security and service operation

Examples may include:

- sign-in events
- resolve/download activity totals
- request timing and performance diagnostics
- device/browser/request metadata needed to detect abuse or keep the service stable

The only user-provided personal identifier Planetka collects is your email address. Planetka does not request or store your name, postal address, or telephone number for account access or normal add-on usage.

Planetka does not use this information to sell personal profiles or to provide advertising to third parties.

2. How Information Is Used

Planetka uses collected information to:

- authenticate users
- operate Planetka-hosted services
- monitor stability and performance
- detect abuse, scraping, or policy violations
- troubleshoot failures
- improve the service internally

3. No Sale; No Third-Party Sharing for Marketing

Planetka does not sell personal data.

Planetka does not share account, usage, or performance data with third parties for their own advertising or marketing purposes.

4. Limited Sharing

Planetka may share information only when reasonably necessary to:

- operate hosting, storage, email, security, and analytics infrastructure
- comply with legal obligations
- investigate abuse or protect the service

5. Retention

Planetka may retain account, security, and service-operation records for as long as reasonably necessary to operate the service, investigate abuse, comply with legal obligations, or maintain backups and logs.

6. Security

Planetka uses reasonable technical and operational measures to protect account and service data, but no system can be guaranteed to be perfectly secure.

7. Your Choices

If you want to ask about your account data or request account deletion, contact:

- info@planetka.io
- <https://www.planetka.io/contact-me>

Planetka may keep certain records where reasonably required for security, abuse-prevention, backup, or legal compliance.

8. Changes

Planetka may update this Privacy Policy from time to time. The updated version applies after publication.
